ABSTRACT

In the borders of a computer-aided presentation method for a 3D subject, a 2D basic image of a subject and a 2D basic presentation of a 3D volume data set of the subject are determined by a computer and momentarily output as images via an output system. The basic image and the basic presentation are thereby simultaneously output by the computer, but spatially separate from one another.

SPECIFICATION